2. Fill in the indicated fields and click Start a Hangout.

While the application permits editing events, it might cause complications with people's schedules.

Deleting an Event

This section details deleting an event a user has created.

Note: Deleting an event is different than removing yourself from an event you have joined. Please refer to page 7 if removal is what you seek.
